BY THE GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN.

A Proclamation.

The custom which set apart the thirtieth day of May in each year for special commemoration of the services and sacrifices of the soldiers and sailors who were unequalled valor and abiding fidelity to us indebted for the preservation of our government and the unity of our nation, has received official recognition in Wisconsin, and that day has been added to the list of legal holidays, and when it falls on Sunday, the succeeding Monday is a legal holiday.

In deference to this provision of law, and in order to secure the cooperation of all classes of citizens in the memorial services appropriate to the occasion, the orders heretofore issued from the National and Department Headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic, designating Saturday, May 29th, as the Memorial Day for the current year, have been modified, and the members of that organization advised to observe the succeeding Monday.

Therefore, I, WILLIAM E. SMITH, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do recommend that the patriotic men, women and children in this State unite to keep and observe Monday, the 31st day of May, instant, as a memorial holiday in fact.

We owe it to ourselves, to our country, to posterity, and above all, to the memory of the patriot dead, to strew with the choicest of spring flowers the grave of every Union soldier in Wisconsin, and thereby bear public testimony that the names and fame of our dead heroes have not faded from our remembrance, but endure and shall endure throughout all coming years, even as the flowers appear and reappear in never-ending succession.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the Capitol, in the city of Madison, thirtieth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty. WILLIAM E. SMITH.

By the Governor:
HANS B. WARNER, Secretary of State.

THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

A National Convention of the Republican party will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 3d day of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominee of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

J. D. CAMERON, Chairman.
THOMAS B. KEOGH, Secretary.

There should be no feuding among the Republicans in 1880.

Let the Democrats do all the splitting, boiling, and blundering.

The way to achieve a victory is to banish factions and pull together.

Governor Smith has appointed Monday, May 31, as a Memorial holiday.

There should be but one idea in the Republican party this year—a determination to succeed.

The more Whittaker is investigated, the more plainly it appears that the West Point officers do not want colored cadets.

If it were not for the school houses and newspapers in the North, the Democrats would have a sure thing of carrying every Northern State.

It was the genius and witty stories who said three weeks ago, that "the Grant men do not bolt—they do better—they succeed." But stories was among the first to lead a bolt.

Everybody who is fortunate enough to be invited at one of Blaine's magnificent dinners, goes away firmly impressed with the idea that the Senator from Maine should be nominated.

The news again comes that Mr. Washburne refuses to be a candidate. This is gratifying, as it is additional proof that he is just the man the people are demanding for the next President.

The friends of Mr. Washburne want to establish the very sound principle that "the office should seek the man, not the man the office." General Logan and Senator Conkling seem to object to this principle.

Bruce, the colored United States Senator from Mississippi, says he is not a candidate for Vice President. He has presided over the Senate several times, however, and never showed an incapacity for the important duties of that position.

In a great crisis, whether in war or peace; whether in a contest of bullets or ballots, the Republican party has never failed to be equal to the emergency. Let its leaders remember the responsibility of the party in 1880, and that success is better than bolting.

Says the New York Tribune: "The mere suggestion that a Wisconsin Democrat was in favor of Grant's election threw the Convention into that State yesterday into hysterics which lasted for an hour. When he pledged his word that this was not true, the party was consoled."

It must have been something of a feeling akin to sea-sickness that the chief officers of the North-western railway reached La Crosse the other day and learned that the Clinton, Dubuque and Minnesota road over which they had come on a tour of inspection for the purpose of adding to their railway system, had already passed into the hands of the Milwaukee & S. Paul company.

Such ancient war-horses of the Democratic party as Sat. Clark, of Horton, and his counterpart of this city, can spot a case of political heresy be it never so obscure and feeble. Our readers will remember the sign of prescience which the latter gentleman attacked our capable City

BIG BLAZE.

The Town of Milton, Pennsylvania, Destroyed by Fire—Loss Estimated at $2,000,000.

MILTON, Pa., May 14.—A fire broke out at 12 o'clock to-day in the car-works, and a heavy northwest wind prevailing, it was impossible to check the progress of the flames until the entire business portion of the town was destroyed. It is estimated that 450 buildings were burned, including all the churches. The fire burned over a space of seven squares in length and two in width. Assistance came from Sunbury, Danville, Williamsport, Lewisburg, and Watonsburg. Among the buildings destroyed are Lamson's machine shops, the armory, Academy of Music, Reformed, Presbyterian, Catholic, Lutheran, and Baptist and Evangelical Churches, banks, telegraph offices, Pennsylvania Railroad depot, gas works, and all the hotels. The only important business places saved are the rolling mills, nail works, Wilson's flannel factory, and the planing mills. Several bodies have been recovered, but are buried beyond recognition. Two hundred and fifty families are rendered homeless, and are camping out in the fields. Supplies, provisions, and clothing are needed at once. It is impossible for to estimate the loss at present.

Large quantities of household goods loaded on the cars and taken up and down the road and the fields around the town are filled with goods. During the confusion many articles were stolen. One lady lost $60,000 in Government bonds. The fire raged so fiercely in the upper part of the town that most of the people barely escaped with their lives.

The wife of Dr. Cyrus Brown is badly burned, and several others are known to be severely injured. The losses are variously estimated from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, but no accurate estimate can be given to-night. The mansion of ex-Governor Pollock was destroyed.

OBITUARY.

Death of Chief Justice Sanford E. Church, of New York.

ALBANY, N. Y. May 14.—Chief Justice Sanford E. Church died suddenly at his residence here, at 4 o'clock this afternoon of apoplexy. He had been slightly indisposed for several days, and last evening complained of feeling quite unwell. He went to his office as usual this morning, writing an opinion. After dinner upon returning to the office, he stepped into the Orleans County National Bank, and while there was taken with pain in his chest. He was driven to his residence, and lying on the carriage went to his room without assistance. A physician was at once summoned, who found him in terrible pain, and before medicine could be administered, the Justice struggled somewhat, turned slightly purple, fell over on his side, and died. His last words were about his pain. Never before has the community suffered such a shock, as Judge Church was beloved by all.

AN INVASION.

DENVER, May 14.—It is learned that a powerful secret organization has been formed, with headquarters in this city, whose object it is to go the Ute reservation to prospect, without waiting for Congressional action. The society has already 150 members, including several prominent Denver citizens. Each member will be compelled to arm and equip himself for military service. They intended to go through the Gunnison and Eagle River countries to the Rio Grande, and unless protection is afforded by the Government, will wage war against the Utes.

NEW GOVERNOR.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Colonel N. G. Ordway, appointed by the President as Governor of Dakota, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of General Howard, is a native of New Hampshire, and is 51 years of age. He has led an active business and political life. Colonel Ordway has been continuously elected to the State House of Representatives and the State Senate, of which last named body he is now a member.

FELL OFF.

LA CROSSE, May 14.—Last evening on train No. 1 on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway was approaching West Salem, conductor Willis was notified by an emigrant that his wife was missing. Investigation elicited the fact that she was last seen on the platform near Bangor. The conductor sent section men with the woman's husband back to search for her. The woman was found six hours afterwards lying in a ditch a mile east of Bangor, with an arm badly broken and hip dislocated. She was taken to Sparta, where she will remain until able to proceed on her journey.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Democrats Devising Schemes for Counting the Electoral Votes—The Next Count to Be Fixed so as to Win—What the Democrats Hoped They Would do for the Country—The Outcome of It—Challenged to Point to a National Measure Inaugurated—Republican Legislature Unassailable.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Democratic Congress is busy, devising plans for counting the electoral vote; a Presidential election is at hand, and a close contest is fore-shadowed. The country narrowly escaped revolution, in determining the rightful claim of the present occupant of the Presidential office. The Democrats are resolved on something more certain for the success of their candidate in the next count. Senator Morgan, has introduced a concurrent resolution, prescribing a method for counting the electoral votes. The plan proposed, makes Congress the sole judge of the legality and regularity of the returns from any State; permits going behind the returns; to determine their correctness, and in effect, gives the right to throw out the vote of any State, for what may appear to the majority sufficient cause.

The proposed concurrent resolution takes away the limitations to the powers of Congress heretofore existing, and in the opinion of the best legal talent, if adopted, will allow the Democratic representatives, to elect whom they please for Presidential officers. Objections may be raised to Presidential returns, for alleged irregularity, or on other grounds from every State; Congress under the resolution, may consider the number of votes cast, and inquire whether improper influences were employed, to obtain them. Inquiries of this kind, will never be made in respect to the manner of conducting elections in the Southern States; Southern Democracy is too proud to admit of questioning. The plan opened a wide field for objections, technical and otherwise, which may be used as an excuse for declaring the vote of a State void.

The proposed plan may not be adopted at this session, but if the emergency of the party requires it, every possible effort will be put forth to secure it, at the session in November next, which will be in time for the end sought to be gained. Enough of the spirit and temper of Congress has been revealed in unseemly members, and admitting toasts, those not entitled thereto, to satisfy attentive observers, what the ruling majority is capable of doing. It is noticeable that this scheme for counting the Presidential vote is put in the form of a "concurrent resolution," thus evading the necessity for its being sent to the President for his approval.

WHAT DEMOCRATS HOPE THEY WOULD DO FOR THE COUNTRY—THE OUTCOME OF IT CHALLENGED TO POINT TO A NATIONAL MEASURE INAUGURATED—REPUBLICAN LEGISLATURE UNASSAILABLE.

Less than two years ago, there was loud boasting the country over of the wonderful things that would be accomplished when the Democrats came into power, in both branches of the National Legislature. Great reforms were promised; immense frauds were to be unearthed, and exposed to an astonished people; iniquitous Republican policies were to be overthrown; in short, a millennium of good government was to be ushered in. The people were told, that eighteen years of Republican government and misrule, had brought the industries of the people, and brought us to the verge of financial ruin. The people were congratulated, with the prospect, that the Democrats were to take the helm, and right the floundering ship of State.

Since March 1879, the Democrats have

SCHOFIELD'S CONDUCT.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—It was stated in the dispatches several weeks ago that Secretary Ramsey and the President were very much disgusted with the conduct of General Schofield during the Whittaker investigation, and it was predicted that he would be removed as soon as the investigation was concluded. It is now stated, on good authority, that Schofield will be removed from West Point, and placed in command of the Military Department of the Missouri, and General Pope, now in Missouri, of that department, sent to West Point.

The Continued Frenzy of Fashion—Seasonable Hints on What to Wear and How to Wear it.

Polonaises are in high favor. New parasols are of medium size. The return of bustles is predicted. Amber color is now coming into fashion.

The fashionable bonnet is the small capote. Japanese sunshades will be used this summer.

Ecru embroidered muslins are among stylish novelties.

Languedoc is the popular lace for trimming white muslins.

Rich and substantial fabrics are necessary when plain suits are preferred.

Gathered ruffles made very narrow and double of the silk are on Paris dresses.

Pleated skirts forming double kilts are very fashionable for toulards and for thin wool dresses.

To have a finely painted fan and parasol is to be just now both aesthetic and fashionable.

Flowers in large clusters are taking the place of feathers for trimming both hats and bonnets.

Lace mantles are fashions or else Spanish shapes, with a point that may be thrown over the head.

Fifty-three-cornered fichus of Pompadour main edged with lace will be worn with light sleeves.

Coat sleeves of dresses are made very high on the shoulders and stand upward like men's coat sleeves.

Parisian dresses of to-day glitter exceedingly, and sequins, as well as gem-like beads appear on many.

Gay cotton dresses are quite as effective as those of foulard and form part of outfits for Newport and Saratoga.

The great novelty in summer undershirts is made of the new Canton sewing in gray stripes, which suggest a wing.

Shawls with solid centers and embroidered borders are being used for the lounge and for driving in the Bois, as well as the visiting mantle par excellence.

The indoor costume of Parisian ladies who indulge in such fashionable whims is of white flannel, with a jacket of pink silk plush of every color of the rainbow.

Ladies shawls are a feature in Paris; the fashionable opera cloak and the favorite wrap worn for driving in the Bois, as well as the visiting mantle par excellence.

It was inevitable and has come to pass that Jersey bodies are now made to button down the front; the skirt, cuffs and collar are trimmed with a band of color.

Hats are more eccentric than ever, turned up in front or at the side, or even at the back, in which latter case they come down like a thatched roof over the brow.

A new collar and cuffs of linen have been brought out for wearing with tailor made dresses. The collar is straight, and fastens at the back; the cuffs are very shallow and intended to be tucked on the sleeve.

The most popular colors with modistes are heliotrope, "capucine," and brass, otherwise called "amaranthine." This new shade of heliotrope can scarcely be described; it is in the highest tint of the flower and very pale.

Many of the square cut bodices of evening dresses have a stand up collar, edged with the material, edged all round with gold sized cut beads of pearls. In some instances the beads are of the same color as the dress.

Cases, with scent bottles, are the latest French fancy for gowns. The top of the stock represents the head of a Chinese or Japanese idol, and upon pressing a spring a sprinkling of perfumed liquid issues from the head.

Very old looking dressing jackets have appeared, made of the favorite pocket handkerchiefs; those in red with a gay in blue and yellow, and those in blue with a gay in red and yellow.

The new laces are of coffee-colored Languedoc lace, with bows at the handkerchiefs.

The Yeddo reed hats, which are so popular abroad, find equal favor here this season, and during the past week at the Grand Depot there has been quite a "raze" on them.

The cheaper grades are bought for bathing hats, but the best is proud against soft water, while the finer qualities promise to be the favorite shade hat of the summer.

Some of the new lace ruffs are very high round the throat, and have a wire round near the edge to keep them well up.

A second row of lace turns over and fastens to the dress in front. The bows and loops reach almost to the waist. These are becoming to many laces, but they require that the hair should be worn very high over the forehead.

The latest styles in men and guest cards for grand dinners, executed at Bailey's, are exquisite in beauty and finish. The upper left-hand corner are double horse-shoes, panicles, four-leafed clovers, etc., embossed in metallic tints so perfectly that it seems as though they had been laid upon the card rather than stamped on it, every edge being sharp cut and cleanly defined.

Colored linings are a great feature in the new black mantles, cardinal and pale blue being more in request than any others.

The quantity of cut jet beads on all spring mantles is enormous, bands of cashmere or multi colored beads are used sparingly and in conjunction with black ones. Many mantles are made of reversible silk—satin on one side and ribbed silk on the other.

For muslin dresses have appeared this spring as ball dresses in Paris. It would be a mistake, however, to suppose a white muslin dress must necessarily be simple.

For instance this: Draperies of muslin over a white silk skirt, a bodice a la Vierge, draped and open in the shape of a bear; a sash lightly embroidered with silk and silver threads; the train and back only of white silk brocade, with light silver embroidery and narrow silver fringe; a bunch of mauve cyclamens upon the left shoulder.

It is said that wrinkles are painted out of faces by a process now coming into use. The coloring, whether white or pink, is moistened with face, this shade varies with the wrinkles, and the face is colored and held at a sufficient tension to and suffices out the wrinkles. The varnish penetrates and stiffens the skin in drying and a smooth surface is left. A bottle of stellas is among the toilet articles of many New York women, it is claimed, and some of them wear it. It is a wonderful kind of skin cream. The drawback is that it soon cracks, roughens and is hard to remove. A renewal is need every day and the result must be permanently injurious to the skin.

The cheaper grades are bought for bathing hats, but the best is proud against soft water, while the finer qualities promise to be the favorite shade hat of the summer.

Some of the new lace ruffs are very high round the throat, and have a wire round near the edge to keep them well up.

A second row of lace turns over and fastens to the dress in front. The bows and loops reach almost to the waist. These are becoming to many laces, but they require that the hair should be worn very high over the forehead.

The latest styles in men and guest cards for grand dinners, executed at Bailey's, are exquisite in beauty and finish. The upper left-hand corner are double horse-shoes, panicles, four-leafed clovers, etc., embossed in metallic tints so perfectly that it seems as though they had been laid upon the card rather than stamped on it, every edge being sharp cut and cleanly defined.

Colored linings are a great feature in the new black mantles, cardinal and pale blue being more in request than any others.

The quantity of cut jet beads on all spring mantles is enormous, bands of cashmere or multi colored beads are used sparingly and in conjunction with black ones. Many mantles are made of reversible silk—satin on one side and ribbed silk on the other.

For muslin dresses have appeared this spring as ball dresses in Paris. It would be a mistake, however, to suppose a white muslin dress must necessarily be simple.

For instance this: Draperies of muslin over a white silk skirt, a bodice a la Vierge, draped and open in the shape of a bear; a sash lightly embroidered with silk and silver threads; the train and back only of white silk brocade, with light silver embroidery and narrow silver fringe; a bunch of mauve cyclamens upon the left shoulder.

It is said that wrinkles are painted out of faces by a process now coming into use. The coloring, whether white or pink, is moistened with face, this shade varies with the wrinkles, and the face is colored and held at a sufficient tension to and suffices out the wrinkles. The varnish penetrates and stiffens the skin in drying and a smooth surface is left. A bottle of stellas is among the toilet articles of many New York women, it is claimed, and some of them wear it. It is a wonderful kind of skin cream. The drawback is that it soon cracks, roughens and is hard to remove. A renewal is need every day and the result must be permanently injurious to the skin.

NOTES ON STYLE.

The Continued Frenzy of Fashion—Seasonable Hints on What to Wear and How to Wear it.

Polonaises are in high favor. New parasols are of medium size. The return of bustles is predicted. Amber color is now coming into fashion.

Ecru embroidered muslins are among stylish novelties.

Languedoc is the popular lace for trimming white muslins.

Rich and substantial fabrics are necessary when plain suits are preferred.

Pleated skirts forming double kilts are very fashionable for toulards and for thin wool dresses.

To have a finely painted fan and parasol is to be just now both aesthetic and fashionable.

Flowers in large clusters are taking the place of feathers for trimming both hats and bonnets.

Lace mantles are fashions or else Spanish shapes, with a point that may be thrown over the head.

Fifty-three-cornered fichus of Pompadour main edged with lace will be worn with light sleeves.

Coat sleeves of dresses are made very high on the shoulders and stand upward like men's coat sleeves.

Parisian dresses of to-day glitter exceedingly, and sequins, as well as gem-like beads appear on many.

Gay cotton dresses are quite as effective as those of foulard and form part of outfits for Newport and Saratoga.

The great novelty in summer undershirts is made of the new Canton sewing in gray stripes, which suggest a wing.

Shawls with solid centers and embroidered borders are being used for the lounge and for driving in the Bois, as well as the visiting mantle par excellence.

The indoor costume of Parisian ladies who indulge in such fashionable whims is of white flannel, with a jacket of pink silk plush of every color of the rainbow.

Ladies shawls are a feature in Paris; the fashionable opera cloak and the favorite wrap worn for driving in the Bois, as well as the visiting mantle par excellence.

It was inevitable and has come to pass that Jersey bodies are now made to button down the front; the skirt, cuffs and collar are trimmed with a band of color.

Hats are more eccentric than ever, turned up in front or at the side, or even at the back, in which latter case they come down like a thatched roof over the brow.

A new collar and cuffs of linen have been brought out for wearing with tailor made dresses. The collar is straight, and fastens at the back; the cuffs are very shallow and intended to be tucked on the sleeve.

The most popular colors with modistes are heliotrope, "capucine," and brass, otherwise called "amaranthine." This new shade of heliotrope can scarcely be described; it is in the highest tint of the flower and very pale.

Many of the square cut bodices of evening dresses have a stand up collar, edged with the material, edged all round with gold sized cut beads of pearls. In some instances the beads are of the same color as the dress.

Cases, with scent bottles, are the latest French fancy for gowns. The top of the stock represents the head of a Chinese or Japanese idol, and upon pressing a spring a sprinkling of perfumed liquid issues from the head.

Very old looking dressing jackets have appeared, made of the favorite pocket handkerchiefs; those in red with a gay in blue and yellow, and those in blue with a gay in red and yellow.

The new laces are of coffee-colored Languedoc lace, with bows at the handkerchiefs.

The Yeddo reed hats, which are so popular abroad, find equal favor here this season, and during the past week at the Grand Depot there has been quite a "raze" on them.

The cheaper grades are bought for bathing hats, but the best is proud against soft water, while the finer qualities promise to be the favorite shade hat of the summer.

DEATH OF A. McALLIARD.

We are in receipt of the Lincoln Herald, published at Lincoln, Ill., containing the announcement of the death of Andrew McAlliard, which occurred in that city May 2. Mrs. McAlliard will be remembered by many here as Miss Adella Hubbard, whose family lived in this city for years; and for a time lived in Johnston. She was married to the deceased some eleven years ago, and has two children, to share with her this heavy loss. Mr. McAlliard was born in New Jersey, and for a long time was connected with the State Gazette, published at Trenton. He served during the war in the navy, and at the close of the war, returned to his old position in Trenton, occupying it until 1868, when he took charge of the Lincoln Herald. In 1873 he was nominated by the Republicans as Circuit Clerk, and was elected, and soon after sold his newspaper. His term of office expired in 1876 and for a year or two thereafter was again engaged in the printing business, but during the past year has not been in any business. He is spoken of as a man of many noble qualities, and the many friends here of the mourning will deeply sympathize with her in her great sorrow.

OAK HILL CEMETERY.

The Provisions Made For an Ample Supply of Water—Other Improvements.

It is almost needless to say that Janesville has one of the most beautiful resting places for its dead, of any city of its size in the West. Strangers visiting it are ever free to express their admiration of its site and its improvements. The care which is being given by the Association, the money expended on making and keeping up improvements, added to the improvements constantly being made by the individual lot-owners, are causing the grounds to look more and more beautiful, but the greatest improvement made of late is the addition of a full supply of water.

Though the courtesy of Dr. Barrows we drove through the cemetery this morning, and were shown the condition and extent of the work. A well has been sunk at the highest summit in the cemetery. This well is 175 feet deep, and has in it 60 feet of water, which no amount of pumping seems to lessen. The water comes through the solid rock, and passes through a large iron pipe, encased with cement curbing, so that it can nowhere take any impurities from the soil. The water is raised by means of a windmill, manufactured at Evansville, and so built that it can work in the wildest gale of wind without trouble, thus avoiding the necessity of shutting it off when strong winds arise. A large reservoir has been built, with a capacity of 1100 or 1200 barrels. The reservoir is of stone, and is covered with a neat looking pavilion, around the base of which is a large mound, which when sodded will give a finished and attractive appearance to it all. In connection with this pavilion is a well-house which shelters the pump, and makes all complete. From this reservoir iron pipes are laid through the cemetery, and every street has a hydrant, to which hose can be attached for sprinkling the sod and watering the flowers, so that the water supply is brought within convenient distance to every lot. The water is as clear and cool as spring water, and is most excellent for drinking purposes, and can be thus utilized for every purpose needed. The pipes are laid close to the entrance of the cemetery, giving a fall of 97 feet, and near the entrance has been placed a large fountain, with large cement basins to catch the water. Surrounding this fountain is to be a border of flowers and plants, a narrow walk bordering this, and the whole enclosed by a very neat iron fence. On the opposite side of the broad driveway, will be placed a drinking trough for horses, which will be supplied by the overflow of the fountain. With this fall and head of water the fountain can throw a very high stream, much greater than is needed. The entrance to the cemetery will thus be made most beautiful, and it is probable that in time other fountains will be placed in different parts of the grounds, as the present flow of water is such as to cause the plan of private fountains to seem practicable. The pump at the reservoir when at work flows a painful minute, and with a reservoir of such large capacity, there will be ample supply for all needs. The improvement is a success—a big success, and the enterprise of the Association, backed up by the generous contributions of the lot-owners, will be heartily appreciated.

The work is being pushed rapidly to completion, with the expectation of having the water supply in good running order by Decoration day, when the public will have an opportunity of seeing the improvement for themselves. J. C. Jenkins has had charge of the work, and has managed it excellently, and much credit is due to him. Charlie Jenkins deserves a big share of praise also for the part he has taken in the matter, and especially for the excellent manner in which the large fountain and its basins have been put in place. With such a water supply, carried so conveniently to all parts of the grounds, the cemetery can be made more beautiful than ever, and the floral decorations can be kept fresh and the soil green.

There are many minor improvements being made continually, but this spring there seems to be more than ever a desire on the part of every lot-owner to beautify the resting place of their departed loved ones. Lots are being graded and sodded, curbing are being put in place, new monuments and headstones are appearing. The new part of the grounds is being rapidly improved and beautified, and aside from the improvements made by private individuals, the Association is keeping up its part of the work admirably, and the officers are entitled to much praise for the manner in which they are carrying for the sacred trust given them.

THE MACKINNON PEN.

There is no doubt that the Mackinnon pen or fluid pencil, is the greatest improvement of the kind yet brought to the attention of the public. To those who do a great deal of writing, and want something which is durable and always ready for use, and which moves much easier than either a common pencil, steel or gold pen, the Mackinnon pen will prove of incalculable value. To writers it is the greatest improvement of the time, and is much more durable in make and certain in its action, than the Stylographic pen which sprang into use two or three years ago. They will prove a fast friend to every one who wants a good pen and one that is always ready when it is wanted. Mr. W. B. Arnold is in the city, and is offering the Mackinnon to the public. He is meeting with success, and both he and the pen deserve it.

BARN BURNED.

Last night the barn and tobacco shed on the farm owned by John W. Carpenter, of Carpenter & Gowley, about twelve miles west of this city, were destroyed by fire. The cause of the blaze is not known. The barn cost about $900, and was insured in Dimock & Hayner's agency for $400. There were two reapers and a gang plow in the barn besides other implements. The tenant's wife managed to get out of the burning barn a three year old colt, which was in one of the stalls, but in doing so she had a narrow escape from being burned herself. Mr. Carpenter fortunately sold his tobacco and got it out of the shed last week, or the loss by the fire would have been much heavier. The origin of the fire is not known.

Overhauling all others in its magnificent grandeur and unlimited succession of novelties that pass before the eye in dramatic splendor, never before seen on the habitable globe, the grand animal and aerial enterprise, heralded each morning by the superb spectacular display entitled the "CONGRESS OF ALL NATIONS," contained in their magnificent court dresses, jeweled, gold, silver and burnished steel armor, heraldic banners, with strange and unique devices; ladies, knights, princes, men at arms, mounted on prancing steeds, &c., and in order to make my pageant still more attractive, the entire tribe of Indians, dressed in their native garb, imported expressly for their use, only genuine Royal English Coach, stage carriage of Napoleon III, tableau cars, chariots, new and elegant vans, dens, animal lairs, a steel screened zoological garden. IF THERE IS ONE THING

More than another that looks neat and cool for Summer wear it is a WHITE VEST!

When you can buy a $3.00 one for $1.50, they look all the more so, because you can have one for week days and one for Sundays, you get two for one, as it were. Three wouldn't cost you very much, and then you could look remarkably fresh. We bought a big lot of White Vests the other day at a very low figure, about 25 cts on a dollar, at least we can't buy any of them in a regular way for less than $2.00, and some of them cost as high as $3.00. As there are too many of them for us to deal out at regular prices this summer, we are offering the whole lot at $1.50 each. All Linen Marseilles and Duck, with pearl buttons, ring fastened, for $1.50. Some of the cunning boys will say they are old style: all the dealers will tell you so. Well, you take one home, compare the style, quality and fit, with any $2.50 Vest in the city, and if you don't like the bargain, come right back and get your money. We have them all styles, with and without collars, low cut, high cut and fine cut, but no plug. We also have them for 50c, 75c and $1.00.
